After filling out a report on

Bizrate.com, I was offered a 'free magazine offer' in April, 2002. It was to be for 3 magazines, then to be renewed if I did not cancel. I planned on canceling, and did prior to the three months being up. I find that they have been charging my credit card since then yearly to renew the magazines! I called 2 months ago to cancel one of the magazines which I found on my statement...was told of the scam and asked if I was being charged for any others. The representative told me that it was the only one, apologized, and told me I would get the full refund. I was very unhappy, but thought I would leave it at that. I now see on my statement that I am also being charged for 2 other magazines...I call again, and the rep, Gary B_____ (will keep his name confidential) answers the phone. He first tells me there was no report of my speaking to a rep last time I called, and asked for her name which I did not have. Great start being told you are wrong because you do not have the details (which I took down this time!). Also told that I did not get the full refund on the last magazine, but this could not be changed. He stated he would cancel the other two and refund the amounts for this past renewal only. He stated that they send out a renewal notice yearly to notify that they will be charging for the magazines....definitely not done. Also, despite speaking with them now 3 times, they have 'no record' of this, and therefore there is no cancellation made....

This appears to be credit card fraud as they are charging without my consent. I see many reports on the internet, in retrospect as I did not know I was a 'costumer' of theirs.

I hope something can be done to stop this kind of fraud. I find it even more outrageous that a large company such as Time, Inc can own Synapse and not take responsibility for its actions.

When

purchased an Apple iMac less than a year ago, Apple included a registration card for free magazine subscriptions. I filled it out and chose four. Synapse Connect sent me a postcard that looks like a solicitation. I almost threw it out without looking at it. I didn't recognize the company name and it didn't occur to me that I had a business relationship with them.

renew the subscriptions and charge my credit card unless I called there 1-800 number I was really unhappy. The automatic phone directory is a nightmare. The third time I called I got around it by making a series of unintelligible grunts. The system announced another number to call: 800-601-1958. The automated system came up again, I made more unintelligible grunts. A live operator came on. I was able to communicate a non-renewal on all the subscriptions.

Whether or not they actually stop the subscriptions and NOT charge my credit card remains to be seen.

Apple should be ashamed of associating itself with such a rip-off company that sureptiously steals from people's credit cards. I've never had a magazine or newspaper subscription I did not have to overtly and consciously renew. The post card is tricky. The phone system is disgusting. They maintain a false front PO Box in Salt Lake City, but the folks who answer the phone at 800-601-1958 are in Lewiston, Maine. synapseconnect.com isn't a registered web site. Google doesn't turn up a web site, just the rip-off reports here.

Honest companies don't behave like this. I hope these morons rot in hell.

Go to your bank within 60 days of the charge, or as soon as you know about the charge, don't delay, and tell them that there has been fraudulent activity within your account. Explain that you wish to file a dispute, and demand that they assist you in accordance with Federal Regulation E.

According to the majority of victims interviewed by Rip-off Report, those who immediately called their banks to dispute the charges did not get very far. Many victims got the following responses from their banks: "we could not do anything for you" or "you waited too long; it has been more than 60 days".

Ripoff Report

Don't let them get away with it.™

This is a third party magazine subscription service. As a thank-you for responding to a survey related to a purchase in November 2005, I was offered up to 4 magazines for one year for $2.00 each. I chose two. I did receive them as advertised. This was on magazine-outlet.com.

On August 1, 2006, I received two postcards from Synapse Connect that looked like junk mail, but were for magazine renewal. In very tiny fine print on the back of the card it said the magazines would be automatically renewed on my debit card unless I called to cancel by Sept 10. I called.

I got an automated voice-response phone system that was maddening to use. There was no way to reach a person. I eventually was able to cancel both subscriptions and received confirmation numbers. I was also informed that they would continue the magazines until Sept. 10, even though the expiration on the magazines was Nov. 6.

After searching their name and reading the many complaints about this company, I contacted my bank right away and asked to have Synapse Connect blocked from charging my account. I was told I would have to either change my card number or pay $30.00 to stop payment. I felt these were both very inconvenient options.

Sure enough, on Sept 12 I noted two charges on my card to 'TWX magazines', for the renewal charges, totalling over $78.00. (which by the way is higher than if I renewed directly through the magazines). I called the number on the charge, got the automated system again. I first chose the option 'explain a charge'. Then I tried to cancel again, but the choice to cancel and get a refund also included a 'special' for $5.95 for 11 more issues. Of course I said no, which apparently also said no to the cancellation. Very slick. I kept pressing 'zero', the machine said it would be a long wait and tried to talk me out of it. Pressed zero again.

Ten seconds later I got a human. She of course didn't know what had happened to the first cancellation, and said I had not cancelled today. (surprise!). She said she would cancel the charge and refund me in 1 to 2 'statement cycles'. I questioned what a statement cycle was, since I didn't get statements from them. She said, 'Oh, you mean a bank charge?' What else do they have??

She never answered clearly how long it would be for the refund to appear at my bank, and continually tried to rush the conversation. She clearly did not want to answer any questions. I have her name, for whatever good it may do.

I have filed a dispute on the charges at my bank. I also notified the two magazines directly about the situation. Now we wait.
